

contents

SPEED Vol 3 No 1

Paul Smee, page 7

Dave Birch, page 20

Letter from the editor	1
Diary	4
Important events for SPEED readers over the next quarter
MIFID's unfinished business	5
Regulators must enforce best execution writes Peter Randall of Chi-X
How to fight the phishermen	6
Help is at hand in preventing fraud in e-commerce. Martina Horáková reports
Interview: Paul Smee	7
The chief executive of APACS the discusses the UK's first National Payments Plan and launch of the new Faster Payments service
Europe's new payments engine	13
Resiliency and efficiency are at the core of the single currency's centralised system, writes Roger Jones
Interchange freeze	17
Sergio Beristain reports from Brussels where Mastercard has backed down and suspended its fees. Will other regulators follow the commission's lead?
Technology	20
Dave Birch listens in on the future of retail electronic payments

Fund settlement 23

A downturn in markets has focused the attention of investors and managers on the high costs of settling investment funds. Major settlement players are eagerly eyeing the sector, reports Peter Norman

Turquoise prepares for battle 27

After several delays, Turquoise is ready to make life difficult for Europe's exchanges. Malan Rietveld reports

Europe's patchwork directive 31

Uneven implementation of the new law means Europe's payments project may come apart at the seams, writes Bob Lyddon

Competitive pressures in and on large-value payments 37

From a systemic perspective, Franco Passacantando of the Bank of Italy asks if the new developments in the payments market are making it more or less risky

SPEED agenda 42

A round-up of news and key talking points in Settlements and clearing, Payments, E-money, E-trading and Development policies over the previous three months

On the record 52

Ranee Jayamaha, a deputy governor at the Central Bank of Sri Lanka, spells out how policymakers in South Asia can encourage the growth in new payment technologie

SPEED newsmakers 60

SPEED figures in the news and on the move

Bob Lyddon, page 31

Franco Passacantando, page 37